ST. LOUIS AT HOME ANNOUNCES THE 2012 ARCHITECT AND DESIGNER AWARD WINNERS

ST. LOUIS, MO – OCTOBER 19, 2012 – St. Louis AT HOME is pleased to announce the winners of the sixth annual AT HOME Architect and Designer Awards. At a reception Thursday night, October 18, AT HOME editor-in-chief Christy Marshall presented awards in 19 categories to the 33 local companies who placed in the contest. The winning work is featured in the November/December issue of St. Louis AT HOME.

“Although so many people think the top design talents live on east and west coasts, this competition proves that St. Louis has outstanding architects and interior designers,” says editor-in-chief Christy Marshall. “For yet another year, the projects entered were stunning. Clearly, the judges were put to task trying to pick a winner. I’d like to extend my congratulations to each and every finalist.”

AT HOME’s sixth annual Architect and Designer Awards reception was held at Metro Lighting in Chesterfield on Thursday, October 18. The first, second, and third place winners of each category are named in the November/December issue of AT HOME, which was unveiled at the awards reception. The issue hits subscribers’ mailboxes on October 26 and newsstands on October 30 and includes a 12-page feature on the contest including photographs of all the first place award-winning work. The project photographs for all first, second, and third place winners can also be viewed at www.stlmag.com/athome.

The judges panel of the 2012 AT HOME Architect and Designer Awards competition consisted of the following national design and architecture enthusiasts: Hans E. Butzer, Award-Winning Architect, Butzer Gardner Architects; Amanda Dameron, Editor-in-Chief of Dwell Magazine; Newell Turner, Editor-in-Chief of House Beautiful Magazine; and Bunny Williams, Interior Designer, Bunny Williams, Inc. The competition is open to all local design, architect, and landscape firms.
